

GENS 202 : Physical and Cultural Geography

The course is a study of the interactions between environments and human activities over the earth's surface, land, sea, and air. A complementary aspect of the course is the study of place-name geography.

Credits 3.0