

INTD 203 : International Terrorism

This course is a study of the origins, nature, cost, containment, and prevention of terrorism, violence, and revolution in today's world, focusing in particular on the reasons why many nations and peoples outside the mling classes of the major developed nations turn to violence. Not open to First-Year Students.

Credits 3.0