CPSC 310 : Artificial Intelligence

This course is an introduction to the principles and programming methods of artificial intelligence. The fundamental issues involve logic and knowledge presentation, search, and learning. The programming language LISP is introduced and used to manipulate symbolic data.

Credits 3.0

Prerequisites

CPSC 275 or familiarity with a high-level computer language.