

ECON 304 : Advanced Microeconomics

Advanced microeconomics is a study of imperfect competition, general equilibrium and welfare economic analysis, game theory, resource pricing, price discrimination, information and time, external costs and benefits, and public goods. This course also includes exposure to appropriate mathematical constructs.

Credits 3.0

Prerequisite Courses

ECON 301