

PSYC 306 : Research Methodology

This course is an examination of various types of research design and important issues in design and statistical analysis. Students propose research projects as an application of principles covered in the course.

Credits 3.0

Prerequisites

At least junior status.