

PSYC 327 : Interpersonal Relationships

This course explores various theoretical perspectives of relationships with a primary focus on romantic relationships. Additionally, research on romantic partnerships will be explored. This course involves a number of primary source readings and is intended for advanced students.

Credits 3.0

Prerequisites

PSYC 100, junior or senior class standing. PSYC 326 is recommended.