

EDUC 661 : Current Issues in American Higher Education

This course is to examine major trends and current issues in American higher education. It focuses on historical, social, organizational, curricular, accountability and budgetary aspects of colleges and universities in the United States. It also addresses the internationalization of higher education in specific regions outside the United States

Credits 3.0