

BIOL 269 : Human Anatomy and Physiology II

This course is a study of human anatomy including the structure and functioning of the endocrine, cardiovascular, lymphatic, respiratory, digestive, urinary, and reproductive systems. Laboratory study includes of the anatomy of the cat and human.

Credits 4.0

Prerequisite Courses

BIOL 268

Prerequisites

or permission of the instructor