

BIOL 310 : Evolution

This course is an examination of evidence for the theories of evolution with special attention to the modern synthesis of genetic and ecological factors. Also considered are the implications of evolution for religious thought.

Credits 2.0

Prerequisites

An elementary course in Biology or permission of the instructor