

BIOL 425 : Animal Physiology

This course is a study of the structure and functions of the human body and of the mechanism of bodily movements, responses, reactions, and various physiological states.

Credits 4.0