

BUSI 203 : Principles of Advertising and Public Relations

This course covers the history and principles of advertising and public relations and discusses the different fields of marketing including industry and non-profit work. Advertising and public relations' relative places in integrated media and marketing plans are also discussed. (This course may be taken for credit as COMM 203.)

Credits 3.0