

BUSI 387 : Human Resources Management

This course examines the concepts of human resource planning and development and its use in business organizations. The course examines the establishment and operation of a total human resource program including recruitment, selection, training and development, performance appraisal, incentive programs, benefit programs, role of human resource departments and the role of government on such issues.

Credits 3.0

Prerequisites

BUSI/ECON/PSYC 287.